CAUTION

Anyone who uses the Sega Dreamcast should read the operating manual for the software and console before operating them. A responsible adult should read these manuals together with any minors who will use the Sega Dreamcast before the minor uses it.

HEALTH AND EPILEPSY WARNING

Some small number of people are susceptible to epileptic seizures or loss of consciousness when exposed to certain flashing lights or light patterns that they encounter in everyday life, such as those in certain television images or video games. These seizures or loss of consciousness may occur even if the person has never had an epileptic seizure.

- Do not play if you are tired or have not had much sleep.
- Make sure that the room in which you are playing has all the lights on and is well lit.
- Stop playing video games for at least ten to twenty minutes per hour. This will rest your eyes, neck, arms and fingers so that you can continue comfortably playing the game in the future.

A WORLD WITHOUT HOPE

Guts (Guts to his friends) and Casca are the only survivors of a band of highly trained and feared mercenaries – the Hawks. The Hawks were slaughtered by the supernatural warrior clan, ominously known as the “God Hand.” In that final epic battle, Casca’s sanity was traumatically scarred by the carnage she witnessed. Even Guts’ love cannot free her mind. Now Guts roams the land searching for his destiny, a cure for his beloved Casca, and to exact revenge against the God Hand’s minions.

As Guts and Casca enter a region ravaged by years of wars and famine, a vile plague is sweeping the land. It has struck fear in peasants, townsfolk and nobles alike. Even the armies dread this approaching pestilence.

The threat is embodied in a horde of parasitic plants. Named Mandragora, these plants attach to humans and soon transform them into grotesque creatures – the Mandragorans. Once attached, the plants control all the actions of their unwilling hosts.

Little is known about Mandragora and its minions. But a strange voice was heard rising from the ground as Mandragora uprooted itself, and the aggressiveness of its attacks is legendary. Most of the land is now contaminated by these creatures. Rumor has it they congregate in a village near the castle protected by a nun.

Baron Balzac of this Kingdom is much feared for his skill in battle. But now he seems distracted as he searches for an antidote for the Mandragora plague. Can he dare to hope ...

CHARACTERS

Guts (Gattsu) is one of only two people to survive the solar eclipse massacre at the mercy of the God Hand's minions. He now wanders the world seeking revenge against them, armed with the mighty Dragon Slayer sword.

Guts was branded with a mark as he fled the God Hand's massacre. The brand serves as a tracking device for the God Hand, but it also forewarns of danger and imparts Guts' Berserk rage. It will change and bleed as God Hand draws nearer or when the minions perform a human sacrifice.

The Dragon Slayer is a fearsome 7-foot sword crafted for Guts by Godo the master metallurgist in appreciation for saving his life. Guts swings it with deadly accuracy, but because of its length it can catch on walls in narrow halls.

Once Casca was the feared leader of the Hawks. But the God Hand's massacre left her so severely traumatized that it drove her to madness. Her total recovery is in doubt. Only Guts' love may save her.

Puck is Guts' diminutive fairy partner. By nature cheerful and easily elated, Puck is a valuable elfin friend.

Rita is a traveling performer, perhaps of gypsy descent. An adept knife handler, she learned this talent as part of her performance. This fascinating street-artist is a strong-willed ally.

Baron Balzac is the tyrannical ruler of the Kingdom infested by Mandragora's minions. He is wise and strong, but his motives are clouded.

Erika is the caregiver for Mandragora's victims. A woman of deep spiritual faith and compassion, she is opposed to Balzac's atrocity toward those afflicted by Mandragora.
